

Looking for an archaeological contractor?

Archaeological Investigations Ltd is pleased to announce that it is now part of Headland Archaeology Ltd. This is an exciting step forward for both companies allowing us to deliver a much wider range of expertise, and undertake much larger scale projects.

Archaeological Investigations Ltd is a multi-disciplinary contract and consultancy company based in the historic city of Hereford. We work throughout the UK and complement our wide range of internal expertise with a well-established network of specialist contract personnel. The company is made up from a dedicated team of archaeologists with a wide variety of skills and experience. It is flexible and as such has commonly been able to respond at short notice to assist a broad range of clients on a national basis. Try our free quote and initial consultation service by ringing 01432 364901 or email through the contacts tab